Explanatory Note

This note contains further details on aspects of Morocco's Schedule of Commitments under the General Agreement on Trade in Services (GATS). This note is part of the Morocco's Schedule of Commitments under the General Agreement on Trade in Services (GATS).

A regulatory authority will be set up before the end of 1996. The authority will be responsible for the regulation of the telecommunications sector. Its main functions will be:

- To establish the general conditions covering the rights and obligations of telecommunications operators;
- to process applications for establishment and operating licences following the conditions set out in the law;
- to manage scarce resources (spectrum, blocks of numbers, high points, etc.);
- to prepare technical standards in cooperation with the various members of the industry;
- to control tariffs of monopoly services;
- to carry out arbitration procedures in the event of disputes between operators;
- to guarantee the right of interconnection for all telecommunication networks.

Interconnection

In principle, network operators negotiate interconnection on a commercial basis.

In the event of dispute, the regulatory authority will settle disputes between
